I

The organizer and the co-organizers have made an agreement regarding the holding of the XIVth scientific conference in the Nowy Sącz, Poland on the topic:

“New Horizons: Digital Economy and Responses to a Changing World”

The main contents / sectoral topics within the main cognitive direction could be found by the authors in the following indents:

- “Transformation of markets through digital technologies”
- “Digital inclusion and global inequality”
- “New work paradigms and the flexible economy”
- “The role of artificial intelligence in shaping the modern economy”

II

The Organizer (Oikos Institute, Bosnia and Herzegovina), the Co-organizer (Wyższa Szkoła Biznesu - National Louis University, Nowy Sącz, Poland), and other co-organizers agree that the scientific conference will be held on June 11 and 12, 2026, in Nowy Sącz, Poland, at the university premises in a hall proposed by the Co-organizer, with the presence of both local and international authors.

The Organizer and Co-organizer also agree that additional co-organizers who wish to join the conference are welcome, including other universities from countries that have traditionally participated as co-organizers, as well as new universities that may be interested in participating. There are no restrictions regarding the participation of new co-organizers. Both parties are committed to ensuring that the process remains transparent and that all mutual agreements are respected.

III

The Organizer, Co-organizer, and all other co-organizers are obligated to jointly advertise, promote, and invite as many participants as possible, both local and international. They must ensure that a link to the conference invitation is posted on their websites and forwarded to other co-organizers who are signatories of this agreement, in order to increase the visibility of the conference.

The Host Co-organizer is also required to designate a person responsible for the technical organization of the conference, who will liaise directly with the Organizer. The Co-organizer should provide the Organizer with this person's full name, university affiliation, phone number, and email address to facilitate ongoing communication regarding the conference organization.

IV

The Co-organizer, Wyższa Szkoła Biznesu - National Louis University, Nowy Sącz, Poland, is responsible for providing the conference hall and all necessary technical and linguistic support (photography, printing of promotional materials), catering, and arranging a modest lunch for the majority of participants.

The Co-organizer will cover accommodation costs for the Oikos team (three nights for up to ten participants) at its own expense. All other expenses (transport, food, accommodation) are the responsibility of each participant.

The participation fee for this conference is EUR 120 + PDV (17%) . Participants from the host university in Poland are exempt from this fee, while other authors from outside the host university are required to pay. All other co-organizers pay the fee per author.

The revenue from participation fees belongs to the Organizer.

V

The Co-organizer from Poland has the right to publish three (3) papers free of charge in the Economics - Innovative and Economics Research Journal, indexed in Scopus (Elsevier), provided that the papers are research-based and contain empirical analysis. It is recommended that the authors of these papers have not recently published in this journal.

Other papers from the host university will be published in the Conference Proceedings, which are currently undergoing Scopus indexing. Authors from the host university can publish their papers in the Proceedings free of charge. The papers must align with the conference theme, include empirical analysis, and undergo mandatory anonymous double-blind peer review.

The revenue generated by authors invited by the Organizer and Co-organizers (host) also belongsto the Organizer.

The Co-organizer is obliged to assist the Organizer with the scientific committee, plenary speakers, and the paper review process to ensure timely completion of all tasks.

Each Co-organizer is required to provide at least five papers from various authors, regardless of their country of origin, in line with the conference theme.

Each Co-organizer, except for the host university, may sign a separate annex to this agreement with the Organizer in order to regulate the conference budget, if they wish to do so. A co-organizer that does not have the financial capacity may remain a co-organizer without participating in the joint budget. The goal is to establish a shared budget to support the financing of the conference.

VI

The agreement enters into force on the day of signing.

VII

In case of a dispute, these issues will be resolved before the competent court.

VIII

The Agreement is made in 6 identical copies, of which each party keeps 2 copies.
